“ Uncle, I have so many happy memories of you! from graduations to holidays. I remember you dressed as a werewolf sitting on the lawn with Chucky (my dad) for Halloween scaring all the kids that got close. I also remember you buying me a pair of shoes, giving me one on my birthday and the other for Christmas since they were a day apart. And your sweet tooth, my dad told me stories of when he would give you money as a kid to go to the gas station and you would go rain or shine. I miss you unc and will miss you forever! In the words of Dr Suess, "Sometimes you will never know the value of a moment until it becomes a memory" rest in peace Unc, love, your favorite Niece

“ I'll always remember the day you pulled up on the driveway at work to show me your Dallas Cowboys hood wrap, you were so proud of it & i told you get off my drive with that team! All the times you would speak to my husband at the store and I would hear all about football. Going to miss seeing you around and hearing about the Dallas Cowboys. R.I.P. Steve.

“ My Ethel,

There are so many memories to choose from, it's impossible to share them all. One thought that stands out is how blessed I am to have so many to choose from. That I've been in your life and Steve's life long enough to make as many as we have! I will miss Steve's sense of humor, his ability to make you feel cared for and included with the family. He always remembered my birthday {I expect now things will go back to the status quo with you forgetting which day it actually falls on ;-)} sending a text or making a quick call.

His willingness to help out is a trait not many share as readily as he did...I remember when Jolene and I were trying to get Jean moved back to Taos from Questa and there you were with Steve and he was taking care of the heavy furniture and boxes without complaint!

I loved the times when you were here in the valley and we'd meet for breakfast with you and Steve wearing your matching tee shirts or even more the breakfasts at your house where he would make our coffee before going back into the kitchen telling us that we needed our time to get caught up in girl talk.

There are so many more, they are the moments of life, from the little ones to the big ones but all of them speak of the love, care and regard that Steve had for those he loved and cared about. He will be so very much missed; and until then, maybe, just maybe I can do nothing better than to follow his example in letting others know much I care for them and how much they are loved. I will strive to be a better person in the ways that Steve has shown me how to be. To work hard and well, and without complaint. To remember them on their special days. And to be willing to lend a hand when need. And to keep my sense of humor at the ready for any and all opportunities!

Rest in peace Steve, I miss you!

“ My Ethel, it's difficult to pick just one memory, there are simply too many to choose from. From the very beginning when you first met Steve, to standing up with you at your wedding to stopping by for visits, or sitting down to breakfast with you both; it seems as though it's always been "Iris & Steve"! I do remember Steve's willingness to help me, you and Jolene when we all got together to help Jean move from Questa back to Taos...Steve was a godsend in helping move the heavier stuff; and his good nature in helping to do so was part of what made Steve so special.

And even if there was no special occasion, just getting together it was always a treat to be included in the family get together(s); or meeting up for breakfast or lunch. Steve's sense of humor was always appreciated, his hugs oh so careful so he didn't hurt you due to his strength and size, but always heartfelt despite the gentleness of his actions.

I think I will always treasure the memories that showed how much Steve cared about you, his family, friends and how he was always willing to lend a helping hand to anyone who needed it. Heaven has gained another beautiful soul.

“ Steve was a very special cousin. We had a lot of fun growing up together. Thanks for visiting us in San Diego and going to SeaWorld and Disneyland with us. He always kept in touch with us and especially with my mom. She loved when she talked to you on the phone. You will be missed so much cousin.
